Objectives

The Women's Army Corps Veterans' Association (WACVA) is a nonprofit federally chartered organization. The objectives of the Association are to promote the general welfare of those personnel who have served honorably with the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, the Women's Army Corps, or those who have served or are serving with the United States Army, the United States Army Reserve, or the Army National Guard, the Army Nurse Corps, in hospitals or where ever the need exists; to provide publications pertaining to the members; to further general education and civic interest programs for the betterment of the community.

A Brief History

In January 1946, the idea for a WAC Veterans' Association originated with the WAC Mothers' Association, WAC Veterans, and members of the WAC in Chicago. In April 1946, the Chicago WAC Veterans' Association adopted a constitution and by-laws.

In August 1947, the first meeting of the WAC Veterans' Association was held in Chicago for the purpose of establishing a national organization. The policies of the Chicago Chapter were adopted as those of the national organization and the first election of the national officers was held.

On 11 May 1951, the WAC Veterans' Association was incorporated under the Code of Laws of the District of Columbia. On 30 October 1984, the U.S. Congress granted a Federal Charter to the Association under the Federal Law 98-584. Today, the WAC Veterans' Association Chapters function throughout the country, carrying on the national program.

National Programs

The WACVA is the only female veterans' association chartered by Congress. Each Chapter carries out specific programs designated by the National Association with emphasis placed on:

- VA Hospital volunteer work and community service in the local, state, national and international community
- WAC Veterans support the recruitment of women for the Army.
- Provide support for the U.S. Army Women's Museum at Ft Lee, Virginia which houses memorabilia and artifacts of the WAC
- Supports the Hospitalized Veteran's Writing Project
- Recognizes two outstanding women in the college ROTC units by presenting the Pallas Athene Award.
- Scholarship given to recognize relatives of Army Service Women based upon academic achievement and leadership as expressed through co-curricular activities and community involvement. See website for application.

Would you like to join other women who have served our Country?

Local chapters meet 8-10 times a year. Their meetings include raising funds for their chapter and for the National Organization. Membership at the chapter level includes a chapter newsletter.

The local Chapters carry on social functions for the entertainment of their members.

May is the annual celebration of the founding of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps on 14 May 1942 and the incorporation of the WAC Veterans' Association on 11 May 1951.

The WAC National Convention is held each year in a different city within the United States usually in Aug. or early Sep.
